To save this earth, we should phase out all kind of fossil fuel Power plant and automobile driven by liquid fuel and natural gas, or any industries run by fossil fuel.

Instead we should go for renewable sources as an alternative. Sun rays are abundantly available everywhere in this world. So we should take maximum advantages from solar source and generate more and more electricity from this easily available source. Moreover the prices have drastically come down to an affordable level to even for common people.

Govt. should promote and extend maximum advantage to the people for installing Solar system and get the advantage of the technology at a lower price, so that maximum people can afford and get the advantage of the same.

Accordingly the award for the best pollution free green district of Assam may be considered as per the maximum usage of renewable energy like solar, wind, wave, tidal etc.
